

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method for utilizing whole crude oil as a feedstock for the pyrolysis furnace of an olefin production plant wherein the feedstock after preheating is subjected to mild thermal cracking assisted with controlled cavitation conditions 5 until substantially vaporized, the vapors being subjected to severe cracking in the radiant section of the furnace.